Löffelhardt optimizes transports with inconso Transport-Add-Ons

Electrical wholesaler strives for optimization potential and cost transparency in SAP

Bad Nauheim, January 26, 2010

The Emil Löffelhardt GmbH & Co. KG is a middle-sized electro-technical technology wholesaler in the fourth generation and delivers electronics trade shops, electronics specialist shops, manufacturing industry, large consumers, offices and management companies. The quality products, innovations and services of the electro-technology and electronics are marketed through these channels.

Along with the main headquarters in Fellbach, the complete assortment provider maintains 10 branches throughout Baden-Württemberg. The company strives to improve even further the quality of the numerous and diverse transports in the area, to obtain additional optimization possibilities and to achieve a comprehensive cost transparency. inconso AG was chosen to do the conceptualization and realization of the transport dispatching platform.

For the representation of the diverse requirements, a process was set up on the basis of the SAP LES-TRA that was integrated very strongly into the standard processes of the ERP system module. Its full performance capabilities are obtained through the use of the inconso developed Transport SAP Add-On. Löffelhardt is one of the pilot customers for this inconso solution, which was specifically developed for the use at SAP customers.

The following individual parts of the process for transport optimization were implemented: loading position management and loading control, transport planning
